Management's Discussion of Fund Performance

SUMMARY OF RESULTS

The Tradr 2X Long CRDO Daily ETF (“CRDU” or the “Fund”) seeks daily investment results, before fees and expenses, that correspond to two times (2x) the daily performance of the Credo Technology common stock (the “Reference Asset”). The Fund invests in financial instruments that the Advisor believes, in combination, should produce daily returns consistent with the Fund’s investment objective.

For the period ending March 31, 2026, the Fund had a total return of -79.88% since inception on September 15, 2025 and an average daily statistical correlation of over 0.99 to two times that of the return of the Reference Asset after fees and the cost of leverage financing. For the same period, the Reference Asset had a total return of -42.76% and an annualized volatility of 86.63%.

The Reference Asset performance was driven by the performance of its connectivity solutions business. For more information on the company’s financial performance, please see the Credo Technology annual shareholders report and quarterly filings. Primary factors affecting Fund performance include the total return of the securities and derivatives held by the Fund, the performance of the assets to which any derivatives are linked, financing rates paid or earned, the types of derivative contracts used and their correlation to the Fund’s Index, expenses, transaction costs, the volatility of the Fund’s Reference Asset (and its impact on compounding), and other miscellaneous factors.
